University of Pittsburgh

Intro facts: A dairy allergy is the number one food allergy at birth, most outgrow it by 16. At age 17 about 15% still have it and for adults about 6%. Nut and dairy allergies result in the most deaths by far. Dairy is in or on most foods making it harder to avoid though nut allergies get most of the headlines. Student is a freshman at Pitt and has had a life-threatening dairy allergy since birth. She outgrew four other food allergies. Life-threatening food allergies are covered by the ADA which requires reasonable accommodations. Pitt makes little to no effort in that direction as follows:

(b)(6); (b)(7)(A); (b)(7)(C)

(b)(6); (b)(7)(A); (b)(7)(C)

Where do things stand as of today:

- *No food to eat on campus that would be enough calories to live on which is illegal.
- * No food to eat at events, no way to communicate needed accommodations and no reimbursement for having to pay for food student cannot eat which is illegal.
- *Repeated illegal burden shifting by various Pitt groups forcing student to find her own solutions to their inability to be ADA compliant.

(b)(6); (b)(7)(A); (b)(7)(C)

- *No schedule for next fall due to their inability to accommodate student on campus resulting in less hours for classes which is illegal. This is the most urgent!!!
